

CRO GLASSY

PRESS RELEASE

November, 2023

For Immediate Release

North Greenville University recently honored CRO Glassy as their Foundation/Corporation of the Year at its 2023 Red Carpet Gala hosted at the Poinset Club in downtown Greenville.

Foundation/Corporation of the Year Award ~ CRO Glassy

NGU Foundation/Corporation of the Year Award Goes to Cliffs Residents Outreach. This award is dedicated to recognizing organizations that have made significant contributions to NGU's heritage and mission. Our honoree tonight is a relatively new friend of the university, but their support is already making a lasting impact in the northern part of Greenville County and is a splendid example .

Cliffs Residents Outreach (CRO) Glassy is the recipient of the prestigious award for their partnership in NGU's Strings Project. This program provides elementary school children in grades 3 through 5 with an opportunity to learn how to play a violin, cello, or bass during afternoon lessons, taught by NGU music students at Mountain View Elementary School. CRO's financial support was crucial in helping the program take off in 2021, enabling elementary school students to participate and gain valuable music skills while performing in concerts during the school year. CRO's investment in these young learners also benefits NGU students, who gain valuable teaching experience through the program. We are grateful for CRO's partnership with our university and proud to present them with the Foundation/Corporation of the Year Award. We invite Barb Adams, one of the volunteer members of CRO, to come forward and accept the award.

Cliffs Residents Outreach (CRO) Glassy is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit corporation with the mission of "Providing resources to regional children that promote opportunities for lifelong success."
